LARGE CROWD GREETS HALE

FORMER BAPTIST PASTOR AT LAST NIGHT'S SERVICES.

NO SENSATIONAL MEET

Speaker Declares He Will Get Down to "Brass Tacks"—Sermon Subject, "Vital Christianity."

A crowd that practically filled the Baptist Church was present to greet its former pastor, the Rev. Lewis M. Hale in his first sermon last night. In opening his sermon Rev. Hale expressed his pleasure in again being among the people that he worked with for a long time. Speaking of the series of meetings that were opened last night, he made it clear that there was to be nothing sensational in the services that it was to be a good old fashioned meeting getting down to "brass tacks."

The subject of his sermon was, "Vital Christianity," and he emphasized the importance of courage and everyday religion in business as essential to vital christianity. Speaking of the recent proposal to omit the word "obey" from the marriage ceremony, Hale declared, "No woman has any right to enter the holy bonds of matrimony unless she is willing to make her husband lord. But it should not be a one sided affair and the man should make his wife lord of his life. If the contracting parties fail to do this there is something wrong."

The sermon was closed with a plea for loyalty and devotion to the church. "What good would it do to have everyone join the church," he demanded, "if there were no devotion to the church."

JUNIOR CLASS TO EDIT "TOWER"

PUBLISHED LAST YEAR BY THE SENIOR CLASS

TO ELECT STAFF FRIDAY

Change Was Made Upon Suggestion Of the New Student Council This Morning

The Junior Class at the State Teachers College will publish the "Tower," the State Teachers College Annual, this year. This decision was made at a meeting of the class at 9:30 o'clock this morning.

In the past the annual has been published by the Senior class but this year the Juniors have made their bid for the job and will publish the annual.

The session this morning came as a result of a meeting of the Student Council. At this meeting the Council agreed that the Juniors were the logical ones to publish the yearbook. This morning a committee of three from the Council visited the Junior class with the proposition and it was unanimously agreed upon to accept it.

Several students who are members of the Junior Class this year assisted in the publishing of the Tower last year. These students gained valuable experience which should help a great deal this year.

At a meeting of the class which will be held Friday afternoon at 2:20 o'clock plans will be made for the various campaigns connected with the publishing of an annual and election of staff officers. The most important campaign, that of financing the annual, will be discussed from all angles and definite plans will be laid.

It is planned, if possible, for the Junior class of each succeeding year to publish the Tower and the class this year will form the precedent.

The Junior class numbers forty-seven students.

BATTERY GIVEN NEW TACTICS

ARTILLERY WORK FOR MEMBERS LAST NIGHT.

MAY HAVE PROMOTION

Three Commanding Officers to Go to Sedalia Saturday to Take Examinations.

Regular artillery tactics were given to the members of Battery C last night by Captain E. H. Maynor. The men were instructed in the placements for gun drill. Contrary to tactics observed in infantry drill, each man has a separate and distinct duty to perform. Markings were made on the floor of the Armory building to take the place of the guns and caissons and the men were shown exactly where their posts were and what they were supposed to do.

An interesting thing in connection with artillery drill is that all foot movements are made at double time.

The method of calling off and counting off was drilled and some of the non-commissioned officers duties were explained.

Captain Maynor said this morning that each week he planned to give the men additional artillery drill and that each drill night there would be something new to teach the men.

Captain Maynor and Lieutenants Phares and Raynor will go to Sedalia Saturday where they will take the examination Sunday for promotion. If these men pass the examination successfully they will all be advanced in rank. Captain Maynor will be made a Major and Phares and Raynor will be promoted to captaincies. If these promotions are made there will be three vacancies in the ranks of commissioned officers of Battery C. These vacancies will be filled by either election, appointment or competitive examination.

The uniforms and equipment for the battery have been requisitioned from the commisary department and should arrive in Maryville any time now. When they arrive the battery will be going in full force. There will be four guns and caissons and thirty-two horses.

In addition each men in the company will be completely equipped with uniform and accessories.

The lower floor of the armory building on North Buchanan street will be used as a place to store the guns and supplies and the upper floor will be used for foot drill.

Judge Hartwell Dismissed Grand Jury Last Night—434 to be Tried in Two Weeks.

Marion, Ill., Oct. 24.—With the trail of the alleged murders of the Herrin massacre only two weeks off, the general sentiment in Williamson County is that there would be few convictions with light sentences with the possibility of death sentence remote.

Circuit Judge Hartwell late last night discharged the grand jury. Before their dismissal they indicted forty-eight more in the massacre charged with the death of Ignace M. Kubinis, the last of the riot victims.

This makes the total indictments now 434, 215 of which carry murder charges.

SUCCESS.

The supreme objective of every man is happiness. Rich or poor, educated or uncouth—the ultimate purpose of every man's life is to be happy. Success comes to men in many ways, but happiness is a state of mind. Neither wealth nor fame can bring it; either of these in themselves is inadequate. The full measure of happiness includes health, pleasure and a contented mind. Pleasure is the happiness that comes with relaxation, with play, with change of scene and activities and from having a contented mind. Health is the enjoyment of bodily vigor, of appetite, of strength and of freedom from bodily ills. A contented mind comes from being satisfied with one's station, with one's opportunity and achievements.

The very rich may have happiness if they possess all things as well as the very poor. The humble can share it with the famous, the lowly with the exalted.

In every man's heart there are longings for things that cannot be had, striving for heights that cannot be achieved, but in spite of this, happiness can be had through content with one's lot and a freedom from useless regrets and repinings.

Those who have achieved happiness have been successful. Those who have achieved success are not always happy. To be happy is greater than to be successful. Often happiness is sacrificed for success, and many who think themselves happy in their possession of wealth are fooling themselves and everyone else.

Happiness is not outside of us, not in having. It is inside of us. It is in being—a right heart and a right life. We can say of some men, "There is a happy man," for happiness shows in the countenance, shines on the features and is apparent in everything we do. To say that a man is happy is to give him the highest praise—for he cannot be happy unless he is making the most of his life.

To be "as happy as a king" is an expression that is founded on the misconception that power brings happiness. The great and powerful can also be happy, but if they abuse their power, they lose their happiness and the expression becomes meaningless. The wealthy often spend their lives striving for happiness, that is always just beyond their reach. Those who search for happiness beyond themselves fail to find it; those who seek to purchase it find the price too high; those who get it have it come to them unsought. It can not be made—it must be lived.—Push.

THE SIMPLE HOME WEDDING

The autumn season is a favorite time for weddings and it witnesses some splendiferous displays in the form of nuptial ceremonies. A typical fine wedding with charming attendants, harmonious costumes, romantic music, and floral loveliness, is about the acme of human spectacles, and most people are glad to be asked to witness such a picture.

But many young couples feel they would do better to have a simple start, and not tax the old folks for fine effects. Every girl would like to idealize her wedding and make it a beautiful spectacle to which her friends are invited, but the majority of brides deny themselves this satisfaction in these times.

The quiet home marriage suggests domestic taste, a love of simplicity and a deep affection for family and intimate friends. Father and the bridegroom have as a rule little use for fine feathers, and commonly feel that money spent for substantial furniture counts more than for transient festivities. But the autumnal bride is all right, whatever she does, and the blessings of the community go with her.

WOMEN IN BANKING

The number of women listed as "bankers" who attended the recent convention of the American Bankers association at New York, was an interesting feature of that event. Where formerly women held merely minor positions in banks, now a considerable number of them are holding important executive positions.

Banking is a business in which depends not only on accuracy but on correct judgment of character. The bank official needs a kind of sixth sense, to spot the people of weak, incompetent and crooked tendencies, who should never be permitted to borrow money. Women, with a keen intuition, ought to be good on this form of insight, after they have mastered the technique of banking.

Theodore Roosevelt said: "Every man owes something to the upbuilding of the profession to which he belongs."

To the average traveler there is nothing more tiresome than a day train and nothing more uncomfortable now days than a night train.

They say an educated crook is more dangerous than an ignorant one but the chaplain of the state penitentiary says the educated prisoners are the best prisoners.

The last of the great war statesmen fell when Lloyd George went down. Wilson, Clemenceau, Orlando, Venizelos, the men who carried the Allies to victory have all fallen before the mighty torrent of public criticism that comes with reconstruction and peace.

The average life of people of the United States is greater now than it used to be, not because they live longer but because the death rate among babies is less now than it used to be. On the whole babies are better cared for than formerly but grown folks live and die about as they have always done.

We are told continually that the "wet" and "dry" question is a dead issue. It ought to be but it isn't. Men line up to vote for candidates because they are supposed to have wet sympathies and for no other reason. Others propose to vote for other candidates because they are supposed to be dry. The state of Illinois is just now plastered all over with flaming posters on the bill boards urging people to vote "wet" in the coming November election as an expression of their sentiment on the question. Why is this the case if the issue is dead? Of course there is not a chance in a thousand that the eighteenth amendment will ever be removed from the constitution but the question of enforcement is still a live question. It matter but little what is in the constitution so long as there is no machinery, or no effective machinery, to put the constitutional provisions into operation and to enforce them. A lot of people still have the idea that, if the Volstead act, which embodies the enforcement machinery, can be modified that it will permit the sale of wines and beer at least regardless of the constitutional amendment. Hence the continued interest in the matter.

Some men are not satisfied with merely telling a lie. They want to prove it as well.

Your baby may be the smartest one on your street but we bet there is one word it can't understand. That word is "Don't."

We read the other day that a political economist recently said that not over 15 per cent of a man's income should go for rent. Won't someone please make this clear to some of our landlords?

There are a lot of girls in Maryville who would give a week's salary to learn how to unbob their hair.

Our neighbor couldn't understand why his little son was always at the bottom of the class. The other evening he took him to task for his poor showing. "I don't see why you don't try to get away from the bottom of the class" he admonished. "Oh!" answered little Tommy "it doesn't make any difference as they teach the same thing at both ends."

Uncle Abner, the town philosopher, says the man who is close usually finds his friends are distant.

Who of us can't remember the good old days when the football players let their hair grow long and a gridiron hero we always pictured with flowing locks? Somewhat different now.

Simply because some girl is a dumbbell is no sign she will never get a ring.

A man's inclination to butt-in usually is in inverse ratio to the softness of his head.

It may be true that the minority is sometimes right but it is certain that it is always noisy.

It is hardly fair to judge a woman's complexion by the package it comes in.

Louise, the stenographer, says from what she can see, many a man's life occupation may be described as loafing.

Vagrant Musings.

Coal in the bin is worth more than coal in the mine.

A lot of people will admit one bad habit in the hope of hiding a dozen others.

Wonder what the galoshes and Russian boots think of the new long skirts.

Better begin to think up now what you will be thankful for this coming Thanksgiving.

Most of us should be grateful that we don't get what we deserve.

It Often Happens Thus.

To go home to supper and find the wife has cooked the same things we had for lunch down town.

FREIGHT RATES TOO HIGH SAYS SEC. WALLACE

Secretary of Agriculture Insists That Transportation Rates Are Too High for Present Prices

Kansas City, Oct. 24—Lower freight rates and unhindered transportation are demanded by the farmers, Henry C. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, declared in an address here last night before the Knife and Fork Club.

Freight rates on agricultural products should be decreased," Secretary Wallace said, "because they are too high with realtion to the prices the farmers get."

"Transportation is a part of production, so far as agriculture is concerned," Wallace said. "The farmer pays the freight. He does not want the railroads to reduce freight rates so low that they cannot furnish efficient service. Service is important to the farmer. But freight rates are now too high. The farmers want the railroad people to cut down their operating costs, to insist upon a fair day's work for a fair wage, to move their freight cheaper, and thus be able to cut down rates."

Declaring that many growers of perishable products have gone bankrupt because they could not move their crops and that grain growers and livestock producers have lost millions upon millions of dollars, in the last six months because railroad owners and railroad workmen could not agree, the secretary said:

"Some way must be found to break monopolies of both capital and labor and keep them at work. These quarrels between railroads and the workmen, which hang up freight movement, must be stopped in some way or other."

CHAMPION HILL SCHOOL TO BE A SUPERIOR SCHOOL.

County Superintendent Somerville reports that the Champion Hill school has improved its building by placing all windows on the east side of room, thereby eliminating all cross light. This is one of the requirements of a school before it can be classed as a Superior school. Miss Ethel Stevenson is the teacher.

Why the Nation Demands Calumet

—because it has more than the ordinary leavening strength; it raises millions of bakings every day to a light perfectly baked perfection that cannot be equaled.

—because it contains white-of-egg—the vital element that gives the housewives protection against using a baking powder that has lost its original leavening strength. It assures light, tender, tasteful things every time you bake.

—because it is economical—pure, sure and wholesome.

That's why the sale of Calumet is over 150% greater than that of any other baking powder.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

Junior Red Cross Praised for Work Influencing Peace

The advancing standard of the Junior American Red Cross made two outstanding gains during the last year—one in the field of domestic activity, which is rapidly linking up the schools with the Junior program, the other a gain of a dozen countries in Europe pledged to organize Juniors on the lines of the American organization. For this accomplishment the American Juniors earned the hearty endorsement of the League of Red Cross Societies for its "creation of an international spirit of human solidarity among young people with a view to preparation of a new civilization for peace."

The forthcoming annual report of the American Red Cross for the year ended June 30, 1922, will show 24,528 schools enrolled, with a total of 4,483,845 pupils wearing the "I Serve" button of the American Junior Red Cross—the badge of unselfish service earned by each individual member through personal sacrifice.

In international school correspondence 736 classes and schools engaged in friendly communication with 623 schools in European countries, 90 schools in United States territories, 13 in South Africa and 10 in a miscellaneous list of foreign countries. The work in foreign fields in establishing playgrounds, school libraries, sewing and manual training classes, homes for war orphans, school reconstruction in devastated areas, encouraging community gardens and many other activities was financed through the National Children's Fund raised by the Juniors at a cost of $338,237.40. During the year $56,922.79 was contributed toward the fund, in which on July 1 there was a balance of $201,361.58.

Pennsylvania 44 Wheat.

The single head of wheat——about 50 grains in all—selected in 1909 at the Pennsylvania State college as the best developed in many selections made over a period of years is resulting this year in a crop of about a quarter of a million bushels of wheat. About 10,000 acres in Pennsylvania have been sown to this harvest with the new variety of wheat which is called "Pennsylvania 44," and it is expected that between 25 and 34 bushels will be produced from each acre. The seed, widely tested in the past three years, has yielded, on the average, five bushels per acre more than other varieties.

Coal-Slack.

Finely divided coal, which for a long time was treated as a waste product, and known as "slack," has now a high value as a filtering material for sewage. This has been tried both in the United States and abroad. In this country a demand has long existed for fine coal, as small in grain as wheat or rice, for fuel, and a large business is done in the exploiting of the enormous piles, almost mountains, of coal waste about the mines of Pennsylvania. The material is put through a mechanical washing process, and the fine, sand-like coal is separated and assorted by size of grain.

Bulgarian Aluminum Coinage.

The Bulgarian government, through its British representative, is asking aluminum producing firms in this country for quotations for the supply of metal in connection with the new law authorizing the issue of aluminum coins in the denomination of one and two leva to the total nominal value of 60,000,000 leva. The normal rate of exchange is 25 leva to the pound, but the present rate is about 700 to the pound.—London Times.

The Scrap Book

DUSK OF THE IMMORTALS

Along the silent gallery
And up the empty floors
Dim figures move from desk to desk,
And vanish through the doors.
And phantoms in the buckled shoes
And queues of long ago
Touch heads in confidential groups,
Or hurry to and fro.

No busy pages pass in haste,
No gavel sharply raps.
No oratory shakes the dome
With verbal thunderclaps.
No bills are molded into laws
Or eloquently spurned.
No long debates are lost or won,
For Congress has adjourned.

But after it disbands, the great,
Who wrought with heart and hand
The fabric of our liberty
Through storm and stress to stand,
Washington, Adams, and Monroe,
With all their glorious train
Of patriots, return to walk
The halls of State again.

Like shadows in the dusk beneath
The famed rotunda vast,
They come, a mighty company,
Immortals from the past,
To see if Freedom's bodyguard
Has kept these latter years
The high and holy covenant
She signed with blood and tears.

CROWS FORM "BIRD CYCLONE"

Peculiar Black Funnel Extends From Ground to Elevation of Perhaps Two Thousand Feet.

Crows gathering together near Friday Harbor, Wash., in large numbers formed a "bird cyclone," the first ever observed in this part of Puget sound where the species is common and numerous.

The formation is sometimes called by scientists a well of crows, and they rotate round and round like the circular storm against the sun. The leaders must have been at an elevation of 2,000 feet, when they flew in constantly widening circles while many birds were just clearing the tree tops. From the ground to the highest the big black funnel was made up of crows. The unique formation continued for perhaps an hour, the lower birds gradually soaring until in breaking up all were about the same height.

The singular part of this bird circus was the noticeable fact that not a caw was heard while the formation was in air, but once the huge flock had settled in the firs along Orcas island pandemonium reigned, each apparently trying to outdo another.

The congregation of crows in immense flocks occurs every summer toward fall. Their favorite roosts are fir trees near Friday Harbor.

THE COUNTY UNIT BILL

The last month has seen an increasing amount of interest in the County Unit Bill, which will be voted upon Nov. 7. Everyone seems to be agreed upon the necessity of giving the rural children a better education than they are now getting, but there seems to be a difference of opinion as to the method of accomplishing this.

The leading educators of the state from both political parties are advocating the passing of the County Unit Bill, saying that it will provide a better education for the rural child. Some farmers of the state and farm organizations are advocating the defeat of the bill saying that in its present form it is not for the best interests of the rural schools.

In order to give the voters of Nodaway County more information on the proposed bill, the Democrat-Forum is publishing articles written to us on both sides of the question.

J. B. Shields of Graham and Harry Ballinger of Hopkins, Nodaway County delegates to the convention of the Missouri Division of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of America held in Kansas City, have sent us the following resolution:

Resolution Against Bill.

"We, the Farmers Educational and Co-operative Union of America, Missouri Division, in convention assembled at Kansas City, Oct. 12, 1922, do unanimously indorse the following resolution:

"That we are opposed to the County Unit Bill in its present form because we believe it is not the best interest of the rural schools of our state.

"We believe that the placing of the power of handling of our schools in the hands of a board of six men is not to the best interest of the rural schools of our state; we believe that in so doing you will be taking away from the efficiency of our schools. That it will cause confusion and extravagance in the management and that it will cause a decided raise in the tax rate for school purposes without a just return therefrom.

"With many other provisions which are decidedly against the best interests of the rural schools of our state, therefore be it ordered that a copy of these resolutions be furnished each local in our state with the request that it be handed to some local paper for publication. We stand for any legislation that will be of real benefit to the rural schools of our state and that only.

"Therefore, we ask the assistance of all members of the farm organization in our state in securing the intent of these resolutions."

College Advocates Bill.

Members of the faculty of the State Teachers College interested in rural education have prepared the following information. This is the first of a few articles prepared by them:

"The qualifications of the county board of six members are exactly the same as those of the board members in the cities of Missouri including Kansas City. The members are to be paid only for the days on which they meet and the total annual pay of any member shall not exceed the small sum of $75. The county boards would have only a portion of the power now placed in the hands of city boards of education, where the amount of funds handled and number of teachers and pupils are from five to twenty-five times what they are in the average county. And in addition the unit law provides for the continuance of local school boards which would have important powers. Under this plan the county superintendents would not be elected on a political basis, but appointed by the board upon merits alone.

"It is placing the administration of education upon them the same unit of the county court and business affairs of the county. The unit law seeks to give the county school district wide representation in providing that not more than one member shall be chosen from a single township. It is a method to conduct the administration of education on the same business basis as the other affairs of the county."

ELECTRICAL INDUSTRY OF U. S. REPORTS BIG GROWTH.

Schenectady, N. Y., Oct. 24.—Having expanded with the last several decades until it is in the forefront of America's great trade activities, the electrical industry reports for 1921 that a total of 7,636,409 homes in the United States are now wired for electricity. This is somewhat more than a third of the total number of homes in the entire nation, estimated at 21,145,190.

The number of homes wired for electricity at the end of 1920 was 6,291,160, showing a gain for the year 1921 of 1,345,149 houses. The number of residence customers increased by 1,001,700, amounting at the end of 1921 to 8,467,600.

The growth since 1915 is reflected in the following statement of total residence customers and the gain for the years given: 1915, customers, 4,006,300; gain, 571,400; 1917, customers, 5,241,000; gain, 614,600; 1919, customers, 6,517,600; gain, 772,800; 1921, customers, 8,467,600; gain, 1,001,700.

Leaders in the electrical trade predict that by 1923 there will be 10,677,000 residence customers, and by 1925, 12,915,000. These predictions indicate the convictions of those in close touch with this great industry relative to a general revival of good business. There are still 13,508,000 homes to be wired, of which 5,363,531 are already in territory served by central power stations. All branches of the trade are reported to be working well together, manufacturers even of the size of the General Electric Company co-operating by extending assistance to dealers in well-planned merchandising for the benefit of all parties.

NEW NON-EXPLOSIVE POISON WILL KILL THE WEEVIL

Insurance organizations refuse to insure elevators and mills in which carbon bisulphide is used to kill weevils. Therefore, the only thing that grain dealers and farmers' elevator associations can do is to leave carbon bisulphide alone and probably turn to carbon tetrachloride which is not explosive, says Leonard Haseman, entomologist at the Missouri Agricultural Experiment Station. This chemical must be used at double the dosage of the carbon bisulphide.

On a farm in the farm grain bins the Station continues to recommend carbon bisulphide because it is both cheaper as a fumigant and better. The farmers can usually be trusted to guard against bringing fire near the building during fumigation.

Tetrachloride at double the strength of carbon bisulphide is showing up very well so that mills and elevators can safely use this newer and non-explosive chemical.

SENATOR HARRISON'S OBITUARY ON LATE SESSION OF CONGRESS

When the second session of the Sixty-seventh Congress lay upon its deathbed, Senator Pat Harrison (Dem., Miss.,) reflecting the sadness, the disappointment and disgust of the people throughout the country delivered this obituary summarizing the record of that body:

"Mr. President, this Congress closes in a shroud of disappointment. Its failure to solve vital and pressing problems is pathetic. Democrats are not hilarious, because they have the interest of the country at heart. It is a case of disappointment, sympathy and chagrin more than delight.

"The Congress ended with a record of increased taxes on the already burdened masses.

"It ends with increased costs of living to the consumers.

"It ends with a failure to carry out pledges to the valiant soldiers of the late war.

"It ends with reorganization and effeciency in Government untouched.

"It ends with stronger guaranties and broader freedom to the protected interests to extort in greater degree higher prices to enslave and rob the many.

It ends with the assurance to the laboring man that the Republican party will continue to favor the employer against him, and to disregard his every interest with respect to reasonable hours, fair wages, and humane consideration.

"It ends as the most reactionary and a reckless disregard of economy.

"It ends with an utter repudistion civil service and preferential rights to the heroes of the late war.

"It ends as the most reastionary Congress since the time of Aldrich, and the most subservient to executive dictation since the days of Roosevelt.

"It has proven itself to be spineless, leaderless, without courage, program or purpose.

"It adjourns in a blaze of broken promises, with a silent and disconsolate procession of mourners returning to their respective constituents with their moral broken, their lines divided and their hopes dissipated. A sad reception awaits you—an insurmountable task of explanation confronts you."

GRAHAM PARENT-TEACHERS TO DISCUSS "THRIFT"

Tentative Program Has Been Arranged for Meeting Oct. 31 at High School Building

The Parent-Teachers Association of Graham will hold its next meeting at the high school on October 31. A tentative program has been arranged with the general subject under discussion to be "Thrift," Mrs. Ralph Scott will lead the discussion by the patrons and Wood Mowry will talk upon the, "Daily Nickel," from the business man's standpoint.

The program will be opened with community singing followed by a violin solo by Wallace Findley and a Hallowe'en dialogue by the pupils of the Lyle School. Emerson Moore and Charles Dicken, two high school boys, will relate their experience in camp life.

Refreshments for the evening will be served by the girl's basketball team of the high school.

Great Airships Proposed.

Berlin, Oct. 24,—Definite plans are said to be under consideration for airships which would have a gas capacity of 110,000 to 150,000 cubic meters, to cross to America in 60 hours, German engineers assert. They would tear through the clouds at 140 miles an hour, unless there was no urgent demand for speed, in which case they would slow down to 100 miles an hour. Such a vessel would be 275 meters long, and power would be provided by five motors of 800 horsepower each. Its carrying capacity would be 90,000 kilograms. The estimated passenger accommodations would allow for 100 fares in addition to a crew of 50.

THE MEANING OF THE ELECTION

(Omaha World-Herald)

President Harding, by his public approval of the record of the present congress, has made it the outstanding issue of the campaign for the election of senators and members of the house of representatives. He has put every voter on guard. He has given every voter to understand that a republican ballot will be interpreted as a vote of approval and a request for some more of the same.

The Sioux City Tribune, in an excellent summary, has listed the important things that the voter will be approving when he drops a republican ballot into the ballot box. These include:

"The Fordney-McCumber tariff that is raising the cost of living $4,000,000,000 and up a year, or a minimum of $160 for every average family.

"The ship subsidy, which will add $750,000,000 and up to taxes for the next ten years.

"The tax revision by the congress the president has praised, by which no relief was given to business with the exception of some 1,000 persons with the largest incomes in America.

"The failure to keep ordinary expenditures of the government within receipts, the deficit for this fiscal year amounting to $650,000,000, and estimated by Secretary Mellon to reach $750,000,000 in 1923.

"The blocking of Henry Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals and cheap fertilizers to farmers.

"The delivery of public oil reserves at Teapot Dome to the oil interests.

"Attorney General Daugherty's failure to prosecute vigorously those men and corporations indicted by grand juries for war profiteering.

"The seating of Senator Newberry, thus approving the use of enormous funds by rich men and their friends in winning elections.

"The policy of deflation of farmers and labor, supported by the administration."

The republican campaign is a campaign for support of this record and of these policies.

The democratic campaign is a campaign for their repudiation and for the injection of more of the spirit of progressivism and the square deal into government.

If the result of the election is a sweeping republican victory congress and the administration will be encouraged to continue in the present path, and the next two years will be even more reactionary than the last two have been.

If, on the other hand, republican majorities in house and senate are reduced substantially, the election will be interpreted as a warning that these policies are not approved by the people, and that the present administration, if it expects success in the presidential election of 1924, must bring itself closer to the popular will and the common interest of the people.

Surely Not Here

"What became of the plan to censor all the girl shows that came to town?"

"The married women heard about it and put their feet down."

"Why should they object?"

13 1-2 MILLIONS PAID TO SOLDIERS ON CLAIMS

Balance of Over a Million Will Be Paid to Soldiers as Fast as Claims Are Presented

The Missouri Soldier Bonus Commission at Jefferson City has paid out $13,435,470 to soldiers on approved claims, according to a report of the commission at the close of business on October 23. The report shows there is a balance of $1,418,280 which is to be paid to the soldiers as fast as claims are presented and approved. The cost of the administration of the department up to that time was $146,250.

It is estimated that it will require something between five and seven million dollars to take care of the balance of the claims, and the new Constitutional Convention is expecting to provide for the necessary amount.
